How to Order or make an Enquiry

Email us at Orders@OurEsme.com — the address appears as an active link at the top of most pages (online version), so it really couldn't be simpler. We will write to confirm availability and price, and let you know your payment and delivery options.

Payment

Our preferred form of payment is online bank transfer (for those who have internet banking), but we also accept cash and cheques payable to Esme Trading Limited. Goods must be paid for in advance or on delivery. We reserve the right to clear cheques before delivery.

Delivery Policy

We deliver every Friday, but will deliver on other days if we are passing.

We particularly welcome delivery to workplaces or community facilities where someone is in daytime attendance (because this tends to be more efficient and more sociable) but we are happy to deliver to private addresses where this is the customer's preferred or only option.

Our delivery area comprises postcodes LA1-5 and part of PR3 within 5km of the A6 corridor as far south as Garstang. We plan to extend our reach further in the future.

Pants to Poverty are on a mission—to rid the world of bad pants! They know better than anyone what that means. They stand for a completely transparent supply chain, no chemicals to harm the health of cotton farmers, no sweatshop conditions in the factories. But also a pair of super-comfy pants high on quality and desirability.

The story began in 2005 during the Make Poverty History campaign. For a while all Pants To Poverty pants were black — now the company is really going places and their pants are appearing in an increasing range of collectible shapes, sizes and colours, which we will feature regularly.

But we will always stock the pants you see here: men's and women's designer pants in black and white. They make the perfect ethical gift.
